Numb. 31[illegible]

Thursday, February 16, 1744.

...day arriv'd a Mail from France, and another from Holland.

Constantinople, January 7.

THE Grand Signior being made fully ſenſible that the Khan of the Crim Tartars ſecretly fomented Diſputes between his Subjects and thoſe of the Empreſs of Ruſſia, notwithſtanding the repeated Inſtructions given him to deſiſt from ſuch Practices, found it therefore neceſſary to depoſe him; which he accordingly has done, by an Imperial Order. Tumults that have lately riſen in this Capital, threatned the very Subverſion of the Government; the Malecontents having declared publickly in the Market Places, that the Sultan is unfit for Government, and therefore they intended to depoſe him; but with great Difficulty the People have been appeaſed. The moſt Pains are taken to prevent bad News from coming to be publickly known, in order to prevent its operating on the Minds of the Vulgar. Great Preparations are making for marching a formidable Army againſt the Perſians; which, it is thought, will take the Field about the middle of March next.

Petersburgh, February 1. The Subject of Converſation here, that makes moſt Noiſe, is the repl'acing the Privy-Councillor Brevern, who was entruſted with the Chief Management of Foreign Affairs. There are, at preſent, three Candidates for this Office; One, who is ſuſpected to be in the Intereſt of France; another openly devoted to the Service of the Queen of Hungary; and a Third, who is Neuter; and who, it is thought, will carry it. Yeſterday the Foreign Miniſters took Leave of her Imperial Majeſty, and wiſhed her a good Journey to Moſcow. Among the Number was M. d'Allion, who ſets out To-morrow for Berlin, where he will wait the Arrival of the uſual Preſents from this Court; which, however, he is not to expect, till his new Letters of Credit arrive, with the Title of Imperial Majeſty in their Addreſs. The Marquis de la Chetardie will make his Publick Entry into Moſcow about a Fortnight after the Empreſs's Arrival there. On the 30th a Courier ſet out from hence for Stockholm, with her Imperial Majeſty's Conſent to the Project of Accommodation between the Courts of Sweden and Denmark.

Lisbon, January 18. The grand Fleet from the Bay of All Saints is ſafely arrived here, after a Voyage of 99 Days. It is compoſed of one Man of War, and 7 Merchant Men, beſides two that came in with it from the Eaſt Indies. The Cargo is rich, even beyond their Expectations, conſiſting of 1,474,230,309 Rees in Coined Gold, on the King's Account; and 8,832,220,961 Rees on the Account of the Merchants; which, taken together, make about 3,435,484 l. Sterling; beſides 5,710 Octaves in Duſt, and Bars of Gold, 11,824 Cheſts of Sugar, 5164 Rolls of Tobacco, 2128 Quintals of Brazil Wood, 514 Elephants Teeth, and other Goods, to an immenſe Value.

Genoa, February 1. The Miniſter of a certain Court having applied himſelf to the Republick, in order to treat of a reaſonable Equivalent for the Ceſſion of the Marquiſate of Final to the King of Sardinia, the Senators to whom he applied, gave him the following ſhort and plain Anſwer; viz. 'That the Republick could never bring herſelf to think of yielding that Territory; becauſe having thoroughly weigh'd the Inconveniences to which ſhe muſt be continually expos'd, by taking from her the Marquiſate of Final, which lies immediately acroſs her Territories, from the Mountains to the Sea; and having made all the Reflections poſſible on ſo important a Subject, ſhe was clearly of Opinion, that neither reſtoring the Money paid for it, or even a much more conſiderable Sum, would, in any degree, indemnify her for the Loſſes ſhe muſt ſuſtain by ſuch a Ceſſion; and that therefore ſhe was determined to rely on the Faith and Juſtice of the moſt ſolemn Treaties, by which the Poſſeſſion was ſecured to her; hoping always, from the Religion and Equity of the Contracting Parties in the Treaty of Worms, that they will not ſacrifice the Republick to mere Reaſons of Conveniency.'

Vienna, February 8. Orders are given for furniſhing very richly an Apartment for the Archduchеſs, her Journey to the Auſtrian Netherlands being put off, on account of ſome Diſpatches lately received from the Court of London. Four thouſand Men, that were on their March from Hungary, are ordered to make all poſſible Haſte into Moravia. The Train of Artillery lately ſent thither, conſiſts of 25 Pieces of Cannon. The Ratifications of the Treaty concluded between this Court and that of Dreſden, were exchanged the laſt Day of the laſt Month; and, it is ſaid, that the Empreſs of Ruſſia, and the King of Great Britain, have acceded to it. It is believed, that the Office of Vice-Preſident of the Council of War, will not be filled up; but, it is thought, that M. Konigſegg will ſucceed Count Khevenhuller, as Governor of this City.

Extract from the Paris Alamain.

Paris, February 22. 'The Duke de Gramont, Colonel 'of the Regiment of French Guards, will review them 'on the 4th of next Month, in the great Court of the 'Palace of the Thuilleires; and the King will review 'them on the 6th in the Plain of Sablons; and a few 'Days after the Cavalry of the Houſehold. The French 'Guards have received Orders to hold themſelves in 'Readineſs, in order to march into Gariſon in Douay; 'and the Swiſs Guards are to go into Garriſon at Liſle.

'The Court has lately ſent its Orders to the Inſpect-'ors of Proviſions in Flanders, to make all the Diſpatch 'poſſible in filling the Magazines, notwithſtanding the 'Inſtructions ſent them ſome time ago to deſiſt from 'theſe Preparations.

'The Prince of Conti ſet out Yeſterday for Lyons, 'where the Infant Don Philip will arrive exactly at the 'ſame Time.

'The Count de Clermont, Prince of the Blood, and 'Lieutenant-General in his Majeſty's Service, is appoint-'ed to command a Body of Troops on the Moſelle, and 'will have the Count de Saxe to act under his Orders.

'We are aſſured, that his Majeſty declared, while he 'was at La Muette, that if the Wind was fair, we ſhould 'ſoon have the News of a Battle at Sea, near Toulon; 'ſince his Majeſty's expreſs Orders on that Head had 'been diſpatched ſome Time before.

'Mr. Thompſon, who is charged with the Affairs of 'Great Britain at this Court, ſent, not long ago, an Ex-'preſs to London, with the Account of the Arrival of 'the Pretender's eldeſt Son in France.

'They write from Franckfort, that Count Seckendorff 'is preparing to take upon him the Command of 'the Imperial Army, which will conſiſt this Year of 'about 30,000 Men, excluſive of our Auxiliaries; that 'General is to have the ſole Command, without any 'Coadjutor.

'The ſame Letters ſay, that the Princes of the Empire uſe their utmoſt Diligence, in completing the Regiments that are to join the Imperial Army.

'It is reported, that four of our Men of War have 'lately taken an Engliſh Ship called the Captain, commanded by Capt. Griffin, in the Channel.

'We have this Moment an Account of the Arrival of 'the Breſt Squadron in the Road of Dunkirk; and we 'expect very ſoon to hear ſome News of much greater 'Importance.'

The former Article is falſe, and the latter may be ſo.
